iCademy Middle East combines the benefits of a traditional school with the flexibility of individual support and personalized plans. This blended learning model can be studied at home, or in our Knowledge Hub in Dubai where we work in low teacher to student ratio.

An Individualized learning plan is created for each child to ensure a customized program that fits the child's unique strengths, weaknesses, learning styles and aptitudes. A learning coach is provided for students who study at the Knowledge Hub. This facilitates progress through daily lessons in the K-8 environment and who plays a supportive role to help the student stay on task through grades 9-12.

Gifted and talented

Advanced learners

Those who may have learning difficulties or don't fit in a brick and mortar school

Those requiring additional support

- Students who like the ability to study from home or in various locations

Those who cannot get a place in a brick and mortar school and/or are on waiting lists

- Children who are aspiring professional athletes or those in performing arts

Expat children living in the GCC

Study from Home

Our online school caters for grades KG - 12 if you choose to study from home. The parent (or other responsible adult), works in conjunction with the teachers, serving as a "learning coach" to the child, helping facilitate progress through the daily lessons and working to modify the pace and schedule according to the child's needs.

Although parents play the role of learning coach for their students in managing the schedule and ensuring the student is completing work at a reasonable pace, teachers remain constantly involved to monitor progress, ensure mastery, and develop specific intervention plans when a child is struggling.

Knowledge Hub in Dubai

The iCademy Middle East Knowledge Hub, offers a supportive and friendly environment where our individualized style of learning meets the strengths and needs of your child with a low teacher to student ratio. At our Hub, we provide a personalized approach to education allows students to feel supported and understood as they complete each stage of our comprehensive online curriculum.
